Profile

I'm a strategic product leader with over 15 years of experience driving resilient fintech infrastructure and operational excellence across high-growth environments. My expertise spans fraud prevention, monitoring stacks (Prometheus, Grafana, ELK), API ecosystems, reconciliation engines, and scalable microservices — all delivered through hands-on product ownership and cross-functional collaboration.

I've led end-to-end product lifecycles, from ideation to deployment, across issuer platforms, payment systems, and technical operations. My approach blends deep technical fluency with stakeholder-facing clarity, enabling fast, secure, and compliant solutions that scale.

Whether debugging complex systems, designing recovery routines, or aligning teams around business-critical goals, I focus on building products that are not only technically sound but strategically impactful.
